1. Bandon Dunes Golf Resort in Oregon

Bandon Dunes Golf Resort is a world-renowned golf destination, but it also has a reputation for being haunted. The resort is built on the site of an old Native American burial ground, and many people believe that the spirits of the dead still linger there.

There have been numerous reports of paranormal activity at Bandon Dunes, including sightings of ghosts, strange noises, and even physical attacks. One of the most common stories is about a ghost known as the "Lady in White." She is said to be the spirit of a young woman who was murdered on the property in the 19th century. Her ghost is often seen wandering the fairways, and some people say that she has even been known to interact with golfers.

2. St. Andrews Old Course in Scotland

St. Andrews Old Course is one of the most famous golf courses in the world, and it is also one of the most haunted. The course is said to be home to several ghosts, including the ghost of Old Tom Morris, the legendary golfer who won the Open Championship four times.

Other ghosts that have been seen at St. Andrews include the ghost of a young woman who was killed by a stray golf ball, and the ghost of a man who was murdered on the course in the 18th century. There have also been reports of strange noises, such as footsteps and voices, coming from the course at night.

3. Royal County Down Golf Club in Northern Ireland

Royal County Down Golf Club is another world-renowned golf course, and it is also said to be haunted. The course is built on the site of an old castle, and many people believe that the ghosts of the castle's former occupants still linger there.

There have been numerous reports of paranormal activity at Royal County Down, including sightings of ghosts, strange noises, and even physical attacks. One of the most common stories is about a ghost known as the "White Lady." She is said to be the ghost of a young woman who was murdered on the property in the 19th century. Her ghost is often seen wandering the fairways, and some people say that she has even been known to interact with golfers.

4. Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia

Augusta National Golf Club is home to the Masters Tournament, one of the most prestigious golf tournaments in the world. The course is also said to be haunted by the ghost of Bobby Jones, the legendary golfer who won the Masters four times.

There have been numerous reports of paranormal activity at Augusta National, including sightings of Jones' ghost, strange noises, and even physical attacks. One of the most common stories is about a ghost known as the "Green Jacket Ghost." He is said to be the ghost of a former Masters champion who was murdered on the property. His ghost is often seen wandering the fairways, and some people say that he has even been known to interact with golfers.

5. Pinehurst Resort in North Carolina

Pinehurst Resort is a world-renowned golf destination, and it is also said to be haunted by the ghost of Donald Ross, the legendary golf course architect who designed many of the resort's courses.

There have been numerous reports of paranormal activity at Pinehurst, including sightings of Ross' ghost, strange noises, and even physical attacks. One of the most common stories is about a ghost known as the "Lady in Red." She is said to be the ghost of a young woman who was murdered on the property in the 19th century. Her ghost is often seen wandering the fairways, and some people say that she has even been known to interact with golfers.

These are just a few of the many haunted golf courses around the world. Whether you believe in ghosts or not, there is no denying that these stories add an extra element of excitement to the game of golf.
